Crl.Appeal No.887 OF 1999

Dated 28th February, 2007

JUDGMENT

This appeal is filed against an order of acquittal under section 256(1) of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The appellant filed a complaint under section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act contending that a cheque issued by the first respondent/accused was dishonoured for insufficiency of funds. The complainant was examined and court has taken cognizance and summons was issued to the accused, but, he has not appeared. Thereafter, non-bailable warrant was issued. Before executing the warrant, on 15.10.1999, since the complainant was absent, the accused was acquitted under section 256(1) Cr.P.C. According to the complainant, he and his counsel noted the date of posting as 16.10.1999. The notice issued from this court was also not able to be served on the first respondent. Even though trial court has got power to acquit the accused for the absence of the complainant under section 256(1) Cr.P.C., it cannot be done mechanically. When the summons were not served on the accused and accused was absent, presence of the complainant was not mandatory. In this case, notice was not served on the accused and accused was not present. In the above circumstances, acquittal of the accused was not warranted and hence the order of acquittal is set aside. The appellant/complainant shall appear before the trial court on 26.3.2007. Fresh steps should be taken to serve notice on the accused.

The appeal is allowed by way of remand.
